DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitation “trapezoid-like” in lines 12 and 23 of the claim. This limitation is indefinite. This limitation should instead read “trapezoidal”.

Claim 1 recites “besides, the trapezoidal-like regulating cavity increased in width and provided with plane surfaces at both sides thereof can also keep the discharge of water to the maximum in a smooth manner” at the end of the claim. This phrase is not a claim limitation per se, but rather is a comment about potential advantages provided by the invention – stating that the improvement can do something. As such, the phrase renders the claim indefinite.

Furthermore, it is unclear what is meant by “increased in width” (compared to what?) or “the maximum” (again, compared to what?) in the phrase. The examiner recommends that this entire phrase be removed from the claim, or at least rewritten in a manner which overcomes the problems discussed above and presents the phrase as a properly constructed limitation of the claim.

Allowable Subject Matter

Art Unit: 3744

Claim 1 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action.
